An Irish Highwayman.

Brennan, the famous Irish highwayman, was a little Bonaparte in his way. He once robbed three officers in a post-chaise, and left them telling them he would report them to the Duke of York as unworthy to serve the King, for allowing themselves to be robbed by a single man. He wore a leather girdle round his middle, stuck with pistols. There was an attempt made by two police officers in the town of Tipperary to arrest him, early in the morning, in bed; but he jumped through the window and his wife threw a pair of pistols out to him. They pursued him to a by-field, where they came upon him in his shirt; but he kept one of them at bay with one pistol while with the other he stood over the second policeman till he made him strip off his clothes, which he put on himself, thus making him return to town as he (Brennan) had left it, namely—in his shirt.

It is to Brennan belongs the story incorrectly credited to Cartouche. Brennan, in company with to other "gentleman," robbed a mail coach and took a good quantity of booty—making the passengers lie down in the muddy road and rifling them at leisure.

"This money will be but very little among three," whispered Brennan to his neighbor, as the three conquerors were making merry over their gains; "if you were to pull the trigger of your pistol in the neighborhood of your comrade's ear, perhaps it might go off, and then there would be but two of us to share."

Strangely enough, as Brennan said, the pistol did go off and No. 3 perished.

"Give him another ball," said Brennan, and another was fired into him. But no sooner had his comrade discharged both his pistols than Brennan, himself, seized with a furious indignation, drew his.

"Learn, monster," cried he, "not to be so greedy of gold, and perish, the victim of thy disloyalty and avarice!"

And he sent him to join his victim and rifled both the corpses at his leisure.

A LULLABY.

Sleep, my child! the shadows fall;
Silent darkness reigns o'er all,
Bird and bloom are lost to sight
In the folded arms of night,
Stars will soon from cloud-towers peep,
While all nature lies asleep.

Breathe thou softly! Rest is sweet
For tired hearts and aching feet,
No dull care nor toil is thine—
Nor sin, thou blessed child of mine;
Tranquil on thy soft couch rest,
With dreams of Heaven in thy breast.

Birds are sleeping, close thine eyes;
Waken with a soft surprise,
Greet the morning with thy smile,
And sweet prattle without guile,
Scents lie sleeping in the flowers;
Slumber till the daylight hours.

Sleep! Thy Father guards thy rest;
Lay thy head upon His breast,
Safer than these arms which hold thee,
His dear love will firm enfold thee;
Higher love than mine shall He
Give, beloved one, to thee!

Sleep! The waves have long been sleeping!
Angels o'er thee watch are keeping,
O'er us both the pale stars shine
With a radiance half divine.
Slumber, innocent and light,
Fall from Heaven on thee to-night.

The Kentucky Evangelist.

Rev. E. O. Barnes, the Kentucky evangelist, who has had such remarkable success of late, is not illiterate or a backwoodsman, as his methods might lead one to suppose. If he uses the dialect of the Kentucky mountaineers, or the homely phrases of the negroes, it is from choice. Although born in Kentucky, he is a graduate of Princeton College, and served fifteen years as a missionary in India, after which he had a pastorate in Chicago. All this time he was a Presbyterian, but on taking up the work as a revivalist, six years ago, he withdrew from that denomination. His power over the people of the Kentucky mountain region proved phenomenal, and they firmly believe in him as a worker of miracles. He founds his authority for anointing the sick and penitent on this verse from the Epistle of St. James: "Is any sick among you? Let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins they shall be forgiven him."

—The Sherman (Texas) Courier humbly apologizes to the Governor as follows: "We doubly regret the error into which we were led some days ago by the compositor, making us say of Gov. Roberts that he was an 'old dunce,' when it should have been 'dame.' Our opposition to the Governor's policy does not extend to a disrespect for the venerable old gentleman, whose age and the responsible places he has held warrant the greatest respect in us for him personally."

The Keystone of Health.

How can you expect to feel well, or even enjoy life, when you go about with a hacking cough? The fool, in his wisdom, says there is no cure for it, but the wise man hies him to Dr. A. J. Stoner's drug store, and gets a bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and at once gets well. A trial bottle costs nothing. 1

HOME, FARM AND GARDEN.

—Vermont has 36,000 farms, of which only ninety-seven contain 1,000 acres.

—Horses are social animals, particularly so in the case of young horses. They thrive best when in the society of others; hence the advantage of pasturing several in one field when practicable.

—Sheep and Hogs: Turn them in the orchard to forage on the fallen and wormy fruit. Do not feed them either early in the morning or late at night in order to encourage them to make forays for the fallen fruit.—N. Y. Herald.

—A quick and effectual method to destroy plantain and other weed pests on lawns is to cut the plant off at the crown, and drop on the top of the root two or three drops of kerosene. The lawn will not be defaced by digging, and the work is at once and completely done.

—Variety Puffs. Use one egg, one pint of flour, one pint of milk, and half a teaspoonful of salt: beat the egg, add half of the milk, and then stir in the flour, and finally stir in the rest of the milk. Pour into gem pans, buttered and heated, and bake twenty minutes. The Household.

—Pigs that are shut in pens during the summer should have some green food. Weeds of any kind are good, but pig-weed is best, and sweet corn cut up with the green ears is best of all. The sweet in the cornstalks is very fattening, and better for growing pigs in summer than corn, grain or meal.—N. Y. Examiner.

—The castor is no longer a necessary article of table furniture—in fact it is dispensed with altogether on many handsomely set tables, its place is supplied by pretty jug-shaped bottles at each end of the table, which is certainly a more convenient arrangement. The same tables are provided with pretty and quaint individual bottles at each plate.—N. Y. Post.

—Green Tomato Pickles: One peck green tomatoes, one dozen onions; slice in layers with salt between, let stand till next day and drain. One box of mustard, one-half ounce black pepper, one ounce whole cloves, one of yellow mustard seed, one of allspice. Put the pickles in a kettle with the spice and vinegar enough to cover all. Boil twenty minutes.

—A correspondent of the New York Tribune expresses the fear that the persistent use of Paris green and other poisons is destroying the birds as well as the insects the fatal dose is intended for. The birds, after all, are the best insecticides, and man cannot get on without their help. "We can do without potatoes," says the Tribune writer, "at least for two or three years, better, I believe, than we can do without the insect-eating birds" and those who understand the matter will readily assent to his statement.

A Potato Experiment.

A correspondent of the Home and Farm gives the following experiment with potatoes. "Last spring I divided a piece of land into two parts, one-third and two-thirds respectively, which I planted with snow-flake potatoes. In one-third of the piece I put perhaps more than one quart of sawdust to the hill, placing the potatoes on the sawdust and covering well with earth. The remainder of the piece was planted without sawdust. To my surprise, when I had dug them, I found that I had obtained nearly as many bushels from the one-third part which had received the sawdust as from the rest of the piece, the one-third part producing larger, smoother and more marketable potatoes from each hill than did the two-thirds part. I do not think it will have the same effect in all kinds of soil, nor do I think it will have the same effect in the same soil every season. The philosophy is this: Potatoes thrive best in loose, mellow soil, and in seasons not too wet. Therefore its effect can be most effectually demonstrated, and the contrast be greater if the experiment is tried in land that is apt to bake and become hard, as the sawdust will allow the potato room to grow. It doubtless will have the best effects in wet seasons, for the sawdust will absorb the wet to some extent, which will cause the sawdust to rot. This will furnish the potatoes with food, which will be a substitute for manuring the hills. The most practical mode of preparing the land for planting, is this: After having the land well plowed, mark your rows for planting with a plow, making the furrows three feet apart, and from three to five inches deep, putting the sawdust in the hills according to the distance you wish the hills apart, being careful to cover the potatoes well. We think those whose manurial facilities are limited, could use sawdust to advantage, as it is good material for mulching, and can be obtained at from one-half to two cents per bushel."

Ohio election to morrow.

Rev. Samuel Jack Nicholls, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of St. Louis, and cousin of "Senator" Jack, of this city, preached a sermon to his congregation yesterday, in which he took strong ground in favor of prohibition.

E. M. Haines, "the worst speaker," has been nominated as an independent candidate for representative in the Waukegan district. Which reminds us that Haines and our neighbor of the Review started out as "Independents" together, and while both are seeking seats in the legislature at this time, the latter has deserted the party to which the former still claims to belong, and is now a simon pure Bourbon. He is Independent, Granger, Greenbacker no more, having brought the Democratic party up to that high standard of purity and patriotism which renders it possible for him to train in its ranks. Now, Haines is not so easily satisfied. He is still too pure to affiliate with the Democratic party, in an open manner, but if he should unfortunately be elected to the legislature he can be relied upon to do just what he and Jack did in 1875—vote and act with the Bourbons on every party measure.

THE STATE HOUSE APPROPRIATION.

At the election in November the voters of Illinois will be called upon to vote for or against an appropriation of $531,712.18 for the completion of the new state house, the amount fixed by the constitution having been exhausted. This proposition was before the people in 1877, and was voted down by a very decided majority. The conditions existing at this time, however, are entirely different from those which contributed to the defeat of the appropriation in 1877. Then the times were about as tight as they ever get in this country, and the stringency was felt by everybody. The money to meet the appropriation was not in the treasury, and the adoption of the proposition would have necessitated the levy of a tax. The state house commissioners had trifled with and deceived the people concerning the cost of the state house, and the vote showed that the taxpayers of the state were unwilling to trust any more money in their hands. Now money is plenty and business brisk, and the commissioners who made such a botch of the work are out of office and the building will have to be completed if at all by a new set of men. We are informed that if the appropriation is voted by the people there will not be any need of a special tax, the money being now in the treasury. It is undoubtedly poor economy to permit the state house to stand long in its present unfinished condition. The longer its completion is postponed the more it will cost, and it would certainly be the part of wisdom to finish it at once. The unsightly appearance it presents now makes it an eyesore to every Illinoisian who visits the capital, and it ought to be put in good condition.

It is now definitely known why Mr. Gould is to take a trip around the world. He will make a careful examination of the globe, and if it "pans out" as well as he has been led to expect, he intends to buy it.—Rochester Post-Express.

Statistics showing the extent and importance of the coal-producing resources of Illinois have been compiled by the state labor bureau. Illinois will show for 1882 an aggregate product of 9,115,653 tons of coal, an increase of 50 per cent. during the past two years. This state is now the second state in the Union in the matter of coal production.

HOW THEY DISAGREE.

If there is one bugbear that is more frightful than all others to the western Democrat about this time, it is the doctrine of protection. The Illinois Bourbon, who has been accustomed to draw inspiration and ideas (what few of the latter he has) from his southern brother, can conceive of no greater "iniquity" than that of protection to American labor.

He believes that this should be a purely agricultural and pastoral country, and that England has a divine right to furnish us every manufactured article that we need. The factory whistle possesses no charm for the Illinois Bourbon, who would fain banish from American soil all such disturbing noises. But there be Democrats who have advanced far enough to see the folly of such notions, and occasionally one gets bold enough to proclaim his ideas—albeit not brave enough to join a party that stands committed to the doctrine that it is the duty of the American government to protect American labor. The Democrats of the Harrisburg (Pa.) district have nominated for congress Col. Henry McCormick—a gentleman of broad views, and deeply interested in productive industry. In his letter of acceptance Col. McCormick makes use of the following language, which we commend to the careful attention of our Democratic friends, and especially to the free-trade candidate for senator in this district:

Our opponents in this election are trying to raise the issue of protective tariff, but I claim that so far as Pennsylvania is concerned that is a dead issue. The problem is practically solved by the prosperity under the protective system of all classes of producers—farmers, manufacturers and workingmen—directly and indirectly of all other classes, save perhaps those engaged in foreign trade. No amount of free-trade sophistry from deluded doctrinaires can refute the actual experiment of the last twenty years.

According to this experienced observer, "the actual experiment of the last twenty years" is too conclusive to admit of refutation by the purely theoretical claptrap of the deluded doctrinaire. This, from a Democratic candidate for congress, will be decidedly refreshing reading to the enemies of American labor in this region.

Portrait of Democracy.

Senator Harrison, of Indiana, recently made a speech in Cincinnati, and this is the portrait of the democracy he drew for his audience:

"The democratic party has been scolding about this and about that for twenty years, and after a thing has been finally debated and settled in the law and in the minds of the people, then democrats come along and say, now that is all right. You were right about that, but you were wrong about this. After the forests are felled, the clearings made, the land drained, the houses built and the pioneers have settled down to enjoy the very first fruits of their toil, I have seen coming up the dusty road on a sunny day a wagon. It is being drawn by a pair of horses whose discouraging ears hang down to blind their eyes. Their lean necks rattle in their collars, and their hips stand up like mountains on a rugged plain. The harness is made out of rope ends and the wheels of the wagon wabble like a bow-legged man in a walking match. Looking from under a tattered covered wagon are a man and two sallow faced women. In the rear is a cow that needs milk given her rather than giving it, and last of all, a pair of yaller dogs that would disgrace a tanyard. [Laughter.] This team is the democratic party. [Laughter.] These people indorse the work the pioneers have done, and are willing to share the benefit of other people's work. They are, doubtless, honest in this, but it would have been much greater to their credit if they had helped do the work that brought these results about.

A pupil in the Boston Latin school is none the worse for a recent adventure which, except for his pluck and endurance, must have resulted disastrously. He rowed to one of the islands in the harbor equipped with a gun and ammunition for an afternoon's sport among the reed birds. While he was looking for game the rising wind and the tide carried his boat away, but, undismayed at the situation, he stripped and swam after it. It was a hard pull through the rough, cold water, but he finally overtook the boat and rowed back to the island for his clothes and his gun. Meanwhile darkness had come on and he could not find them. The wind cut his bare body like a knife, and after a hurried search for his wardrobe he made up his mind that the only thing to do was to row home as fast as possible and trust to his exertions to keep him from freezing. It was three miles to the nearest shore, but he finally reached it, and retreating behind a barn yelled for help. "What's the matter?" asked a voice through the darkness. "Please come down here, I'm in an awful scrape," was the boy's reply. He was presently provided with a suit of clothes, went home, and woke up the next morning none the worse for an experiment which, according to all the laws of physiology, ought to have killed him.

Church Notes.

Rev. R. F. Parsham of Sparta, Wis., delivered two excellent sermons at the Baptist church yesterday. The morning theme was "For he hath made him to be sin for us who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him." There were good congregations present morning and evening.

Owing to the threatening state of the weather there was but a small number present at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, and Rev. Prestley postponed his discussion of the subject: "Sunday Sickness," until next Sabbath. His theme was "The Human Family," which he made deeply interesting.

"Little Things in the Christian's Life" was the subject of Rev. J. P. Dimmitt's discourse at the First M. E. church at the morning hour.

Rev. W. A. Musgrove had good congregations at Stapp's Chapel and preached two excellent sermons, as did also Elder Pinkerton at the Christian church, where two young men were immersed last evening.

The support of the star will be given by the Brooklyn Park Theatre company. Popular prices, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

At the coroner's inquest held on the body of James Rigby who was shot near Palmer by John Leigh, the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the old man Leigh, John's father, had offered him $1000 to kill James Rigby. A warrant was immediately sworn out for his arrest on the charge of murder. He being suspected as an accessory to the crime beforehand, was arrested and his bail fixed at $10,000, which he furnished. Subsequently E. T. Leigh was rearrested and committed to the Taylorville jail without bail. John Leigh is still a fugitive from justice.

Ex Gov. Hendricks, of Indiana, has always been popular among the Irish voters of that state. But since he aided in defeating an Irishman for a place on the democratic ticket in Marion county, and in getting his nephew nominated, the tide has turned against him. A few days ago he attended a meeting in one of the wards of Indianapolis where the Irish voters are numerous, and when he rose to speak he was greeted with such expressions as these: "What are yez doin' down here? Yez never visited us before." "Ah, yez are a stranger, Tommy: but yez will know us betther before you leave." "Do yez cum down here to get us to vote fur yer nevy?" and other like outbursts. "Now I want you to keep quiet until I get through," Mr. Hendricks blandly put in, and was met by the curt response: "Make it short thin, or we'll egg yez'".

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

Washington, Oct. 7.—In response to a telegram sent yesterday to President Arthur, Second Comptroller Upton was to-day designated, with authority to act, as first comptroller, in the temporary absence of Judge Lawrence, and to sign warrants. The work in the treasury department had come to a standstill.

Secretary Folger is expected in Washington in a few days. His resignation is said to be in the hands of the president, who will designate his successor immediately on his return. The friends of Assistant Secretary New are again confident that he will succeed Folger.

Representative Republicans from Pennsylvania claim that the election of General Beaver is assured; that Democratic stagnation has offset the independent movement.

The papers in the star-route bribery cases have been forwarded to Attorney General Brewster. Brewster Cameron and Bowen, charged by Foreman Dickson with attempting to bribe the jury, are here and in readiness, but the attorney general has telegraphed requesting a delay in the proceedings until he returns. He is expected to arrive about the middle of next week.

Acting Secretary New, of the treasury department, starts for Indiana next week, to take part in the Republican campaign. He is confident of the party's success in that state.

President Arthur has requested the members of the cabinet now in Washington to join him in New York on Tuesday next, for the purpose of accompanying him to Boston.

Cairo, Oct. 7.—While the annual carvan, which recently departed with imposing ceremonies, was journeying to Suez, on its way to Mecca, the canopy over the sacred carpet was caught and overturned by a telegraph wire and the sacred emblem exposed to view. The dervishes in charge were greatly excited by the accident. It is not certain but that the caravan will have to return, and the ceremony be performed over again in Cairo.

London, Oct. 7.—The Cairo correspondent of the Cologne Gazette declares that Egyptian wounded were murdered by the British in the trenches at Tel-el-Kebir, long after all resistance ceased. A letter from a non commissioned officer says orders were to spare none of the enemy, and to bayonet every one of them, as they would shoot soldiers treacherously if the latter passed them.

New York, Oct. 7. The Telegram's Washington special says: "It is said that the condition of the president's health at the time he first left Washington this summer was very much more serious than was supposed. It seems that, if the story is to be believed, the president was suffering from a very painful kidney disease, which threatened to assume a chronic form."

Waukegan, Ill., Oct. 7.—At a mass meeting of independents held here to-day to nominate a representative in this senatorial district, E. M. Haines was nominated by acclamation.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Over 5,000 voters in the second district of this city have signed a paper asking John F. Finerty to become a candidate for congress on an independent footing. Finerty is a journalist of some distinction and much ability, but is better known as an active Irish patriot of great eloquence, fertile brain and unusually conservative methods. If elected, as he would probably be, he would represent his race and district in congress most creditably.

Boston, Oct. 7. Two letters from Gen. Butler will be printed in the morning, containing his acceptance of the Democratic and National Greenback-Labor movement for governor.

In the letter to the Democratic committee the General expresses himself in favor of civil service reform, declares against taxation of the necessaries of life and says the highest duties should be laid upon luxuries.

The letter to the Greenback committee says: I can congratulate you that hereafter you may well lay aside the word "Greenback" as the designation of your party. Unless you keep it in remembrance of the fact that you took it upon you when conferred by your enemies as a title of reproach. In behalf of the greenback or legal tender note your labors are done, and the mission of your party is as completely fulfilled as is the mission of the Republican party, which was the abolition of slavery. The greenback is now money of the United States and is the equal of gold and silver.

The committee is then referred to the expressed views in the Democratic letter. The rest of the communication is given to a statement of his devotion to the interests of laboring people.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The officers of the secret service of the treasury department last evening made an important arrest, in this city, of two men who are charged with attempting to induce employes of the bureau of engraving and printing to purloin certain plates and valuable sheets of paper. The names of the parties arrested are William F. Salter and Wilmot A. Ward, the latter an ex-watchman of the bureau. The conspiracy was exposed by an employe, who had been approached and offered a more remunerative position if the sheets were handed over. When Col. Irish, chief of the bureau, learned of what had occurred, he immediately sent the information to Secretary Folger for such action as he might see fit. The employe who had been tampered with was summoned before the secretary, and the story was to the effect that Salter and Ward had frequently made overtures before, stating their intentions. Subsequently, however, they said that they wanted to get certain sheets in order to show how loosely the affairs of the bureau were administered. Then the bribe was offered of a higher position, and assurances were given that if the work was accomplished that the purloiner of the sheets would be made secure in the position under the successor of Col. Irish. Ward, the ex-watchman, seemed certain that the paper could be taken without detection, and endeavored to impress his views on the employes with whom he was negotiating.

Both prisoners were arrested while on Pennsylvania avenue, and were locked up at police headquarters for a hearing to-morrow before United States Commissioner Bundy. The scheme seems to have been but one of many to bring odium upon the present officers of the bureau of engraving and printing.

Newark, Oct. 7.—The Herald's Washington special says: Attorney General Brewster having decided that the investigation into the charges of bribery alleged by jurors in the star route cases shall be conducted by the special counsel for the government, employed to prosecute the star route cases. District Attorney Corkhill has transferred all of the affidavits taken by his assistants to the department of justice. Richard I. Merrick, counsel for the government, will on Monday begin the preliminary work of investigation. The order of the attorney general appears to have surprised a number of persons here, who thought the proceedings would be left to the care of the district attorney. It is charged by the daily organ of Brady that the action of the attorney general is taken to protect special agents of his department from the allegations made by Wm. Dickson, foreman of the jury. It is said on the other hand the government will show why it was that certain members of the jury who voted for acquittal alleged they were approached to vote for conviction long in advance of the evidence, ruling and construction of the court.

THE INJUNCTION GRANTED.

Decision of Master in Chancery Brown in the Downing License Case.

The arguments on the application to restrain Mayor Waggoner from issuing a license to Harvey W. Downing to retail intoxicating liquor in a building on North Water street, near the Wabash road, were heard by Master in Chancery John A. Brown on last Saturday afternoon. State's Attorney Johns appeared on behalf of the people and made the point that the license should not issue because Downing had not caused to be published for two consecutive weeks a notice in the city paper that he would make application for a license at a regular meeting of the council. It was shown that Downing had not complied with the requirements of the law in this respect, and Mr. Johns argued that, notwithstanding the council had on Oct. 2d, approved the bond of the applicant and ordered the issuance of the license, the license should not be issued. The other side of the question was represented by City Attorney Hutchinson and Hugh Crea, Esq., who held that the injunction be not granted. Mr. Brown reserved his decision until this forenoon at 9 o'clock, when he granted the injunction. The matter will come up at the session of the circuit court in December next. This decision puts an end to Mr. Downing's hopes for the present. He cannot get a license on the vote of the council of October 2d; but he can make another effort to secure a license by causing a legal notice to be published so that the council can act legally in the matter.

Rev. F. D. Power Coming.

On Wednesday evening of the present week—Oct. 11—the Rev. F. D. Power, the well-known pastor of the Christian church at Washington City, of which the late President Garfield was a member, will deliver a sermon at the Christian church in Decatur. Rev. Power is the present chaplain of the National House of Representatives. He will visit Bloomington on Thursday. Rev. Power is making a tour of the country in the interest of the Garfield Memorial church at Washington. All our people are invited to attend the services at the Christian church Wednesday night.

THIS (Monday) morning Constable James Cook, of Macon, came to Decatur with three boys, Edward Hughes and Charles and William Leslie, who were arrested for making a criminal assault on Mrs. A. S. Atteberry and her infant, several miles southeast of Macon, on October 4th. The boys threw stones at the house and several of them struck the woman and the baby. Hence the arrest. The boys were taken before Justice McGorray. Mr. Johns represented the people. The father of the Leslie boys was present, and he paid the $14.40 costs in the case. The boys were permitted to depart, but not before they were given a sound lecture by Mr. Johns, who made them promise that they would behave themselves in the future.

A TELEGRAM from Macon states that Rev. William Nugent, a pioneer of the Methodist church and a colleague of the latter Peter Cartwright, was buried at that place on Friday. He was aged 79 years. Some years ago he became blind, but a skillful surgical operation restored his sight, although it shattered his nervous system and prevented further usefulness. A vast number of friends mourn his departure.

A LETTER received from Wauedah, Michigan, this morning, conveys the information that the Decatur hunting party arrived there safely, and that all are well and in fine spirits. On the first evening after the arrival Hon. L. L. Haworth shot and killed the first deer, and he was at once made captain of the party. L. L. is a dead shot.

A TELEGRAM was received in Decatur to-day stating that Mr. Gilbert Close, father of Mr. J. A. Close, of this city, died at Albion, N. Y., on Sunday night. The deceased was in the 89th year of his age. Mr. Close, who left for Albion on Friday last, probably arrived there in time to see his father alive.

A VALUABLE gold necklace and other jewelry were stolen from the residence of Frank Calhoun, at the corner of East North and Calhoun streets one night last week. The burglars are as good as spotted, and if the articles are returned no questions will be asked: but if they are not, the case will be put into the hands of the law "with power to act."

MR. J. A. BELL, of Wheatland township, is ahead of all competitors in the potato line, so far as samples brought to this office are concerned. The "Hayes" variety, of which he has placed on our table some mammoth samples, certainly "takes the cake."

THE past season has taught our farmers a great lesson in the matter of tiling. There will be thousands of acres of wet land tiled in this county before the next cropping season begins. Tile makers are preparing to supply the demand that will certainly be made upon them.

FRANK DENNIS took one of his sons in charge on South Water street this noon and took him to the county jail. The boy had been behaving improperly of late and Frank will endeavor to have him sent to the reform school.

THIS forenoon Justice Albert fined Edward Frost $3 and costs for assaulting Arthur Quinn, the peddler at the Franklin house. Quinn's condition indicated that he had been shaken up right lively. One of his eyes is in deep mourning.

SUNDAY was a rainy day. A heavy rain visited us between 4 and 6 o'clock last evening, which filled up the gutters and choked up the sewers at many points about the city.

THE Brenneman Bros.' great sale of stock will take place on Thursday, Oct 19th. A dinner will be served, so that none need take lunch with them to the sale.

J. N. WILKINSON has been elected a member of the state executive committee of the Illinois Y. M. C. A., and I. E. Brown has been chosen state secretary for another year.

TO-DAY at 10 o'clock the Packard-Miller fishing party left for Otter Lake, south of Niantic, on a fishing excursion. They went out in buggies.

A CITY force has commenced putting down the brick for the pavements on North Main street.

Married on Sunday.

There was a quiet wedding at the Methodist parsonage at Blue Mound on Sunday forenoon at ten o'clock. The contracting parties were Mr. Clint M. Brodess, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brodess, of this city, and Miss Minnie L. Bruebeck, of Grove City, Ill. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. F. May, and at 12 o'clock the happy couple arrived in Decatur, accompanied by Mr. Milton Hoagland and Miss Allie Barick, who were the attendants. The bride was the recipient of a large collection of beautiful and costly gifts from scores of friends. The presents included silverware, household furniture, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Brodess have gone to housekeeping in a cosy cottage on Cemetery street, between Water and South Main streets, and Clint is on duty to-day as clerk at Wood Bros. restaurant and confectionery.

The Conn Case.

This (Monday) forenoon the case of the People vs. Alexander Conn, charged with making a murderous assault on John Warnicott at Mt. Zion, on Oct. 1st, came up before Justice Corley. About all the prosecuting witnesses were present, but the accused did not put in an appearance for reasons unknown to his attorney, I. R. Mills, and the sureties, Kemp Conn, father of the young man, and the Mills Bros. State's Attorney Johns appeared for the People and demanded a forfeiture of the $500 bond. After a lengthy discussion on law points bearing on the case the justice refused to grant a continuance, and a default was entered against the sureties named. It is believed that young Conn has skipped out. He was seen at Mt. Zion on Saturday morning.

Going the Wrong Way.

On Sunday Daniel and Henry Bell, sons of John Bell, neither of them past twelve years of age, effected an entrance through a rear window to F. W. Niedermyer's family grocery store on the Mound and took therefrom a number of purses, cigars, chewing gum and other articles of value. The boys were found by Mr. Niedermyer distributing the stolen goods among a lot of lads gathered about them. This morning Officer Brewer arrested the boys and placed them in the calaboose, where they will remain until it shall be determined what shall be done with them.

Mrs. J. A. Close, Mrs. Dr. Roberts and Mrs. C. L. Griswold, the two last named ladies daughters of the late Gilbert Close, will leave for Albion, N. Y., to-night to attend the funeral of the deceased.

A. S. Rockwell, of Taylorville, visited Decatur on Sunday. He reports that the condition of Miss Bond is very precarious. He says the physicians state that she may live for some time yet, but that death is inevitable.

F. W. Anderson was called to Quincy yesterday by the illness of his friend, Mr. J. W. Bashforth. He returned home today. J. W. is better. He has been ill four weeks with an attack of typhoid fever.

John McFarland, a capitalist of Lexington, Ky., paid the REPUBLICAN sanctum a visit last week in company with Major Emery, of Maroa. Mr. McFarland is the owner of about 6,000 acres of improved land in Illinois, part of which lies in Austin township, and the balance near Maroa and in counties in different parts of the State. Major Emery has been his agent for many years and has sole charge of the general management of the farms, receiving one-half of the net profits for his services. Mr. McFarland is also the owner of three sections of land in Dakota recently purchased by Mr. Emery.

The Rev. Horace Reed, recent pastor of the Centenary M. E. Church, Jacksonville, has been made the victim of a surprise by his late parishioners and friends, in being presented with an elegant and costly gold watch. Dr. W. F. Short made the presentation speech. The Rev. Reed is very popular among the Centenary people, and served them with great fidelity. We do not know what a Methodist preacher is to do with jewelry and costly array, but the watch having been given him we do not see how he can refuse to wear it. Springfield Journal.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Capt. Rowell's Canvass in the County—The Meeting at Elwin.

CAPT. J. H. ROWELL,

the Republican nominee for Congress in this district, closed his campaign in Macon county on Saturday afternoon at Maroa. The captain delivered six addresses in the county while here and made a good impression wherever he spoke. He is a man of the people, and addresses himself plainly and fully to points of live issue to the masses in the present campaign. He will probably visit this part of the district before election day and give our people another opportunity of hearing him.

THE ELWIN MEETING.

Saturday evening the voters of Wheatland township were addressed at Elwin by Hon Jason Rogers, Republican nominee for state senator, Mr. Charles Careins and Mr. Edwin Philbrook, Republican nominee for superintendent of public schools. The meeting, which was largely attended, was called to order by John Ward, and Mr. John Montgomery was elected chairman. The first speaker was Mr. Rogers, who spoke for one hour on the tariff question and also on the proposition of submitting the prohibition amendment to a vote of the people. He declared that the people have a right to vote on this question, and as they desire that right it should not be denied them. His views on the tariff question were also as clearly and fully expressed. Mr. Rogers interspersed his telling points with a number of anecdotes that served to clinch his arguments, and occasioned much laughter and applause.

Mr. Careins addressed himself almost wholly to the amendment question, and showed that the democrats were opposed to the people having a chance to express themselves with regard to the matter. He spoke for an hour. The points made were backed up with the party records, and were received with general marks of approval.

Mr. Philbrook made a short talk, and assured his hearers that the "Schoolmaster was abroad."

GEN. RAUM COMING.

Gen. Raum will probably speak in Decatur on Wednesday evening, Oct. 18th. The tabernacle has been engaged.

STEVENSON.

Hon. Mr. Stevenson the greenback-democratic nominee for congress, will commence his canvass in this county on Oct. 16th.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

—The electric light will affect the colors of cloths, as well as paintings, in the same way but not so quickly as sunlight.—N. Y. Herald.

—The cottonwood is abundant in Kansas, where it grows rapidly. Under the Forestry law of that State about 6,000 acres have been planted in black walnut.—Denver Tribune.

—The sorrowful tree—so named because it flourishes only at night—grows upon the Island of Goa, near Bombay. The flowers, which have a fragrant odor, appear soon after sunset the year round, and close up or fall off as the sun rises.

—Black birch, which is coming in favor as a substitute for black walnut, is a close-grained and handsome wood. It can readily be stained to resemble walnut, is just as easy to work, and is suitable for many of the purposes to which black walnut is applied.—N. Y. Post.

—A report recently issued by the American Silk Association shows that it was the best year American factories have ever had, and also that it was the largest year of importation ever seen in the trade. It is estimated that the American people spent over $105,000,000 for silks in the fiscal year ending July 1, one-third of this large sum going to our native manufacturers.—Chicago Journal.

—One of the latest notions is to have a light on the forehead of the horse. We are assured that it gives perfect safety against accident when driving after dark. No fire, no liquids, no lamp, yet a never-failing bright signal light at a great distance. It is made of metal and covered with a combination of luminous compounds; is easily attached and detached; is made in different designs, and therefore, very attractive if it should be carried in daytime.—Court Journal.

—They do some things in Sweden that can not be done in this country. A new development of the timber industries has recently been made near the town of Narkeding, in middle Sweden. It consists in manufacturing thread for crochet and sewing purposes from pine timber. The process is not made public, but the products are said to be fine in quality, and the price low. The thread is wound on balls by machinery and packed in boxes for export. The new business, it is said, is likely to be a successful one, for the orders from all parts of the country are so numerous that the new factory is unable to fill them.—Chicago Times.

PITH AND POINT.

—Yes, charity should begin at home; but to the charitable man the whole world is home.

—Fine ice is just what it is cracked up to be. Would that the same could be said of the generality of the sons of men.

—There once was a dealer in worsted
Who wanted his business boosted.
He advertised every week,
And since then on the peak
Of business success he has roosted.
—Somerville Journal.

—When a boy feels called upon to go West and tackle grizzlies he should be shut up in a yard for fifteen minutes with a dog about as big as a cider barrel. If that doesn't cure him then he was cut out for a great bear hunter.—N. Y. Tribune.

—"No," said the thin-legged young gentleman, "I never sing or play. I consider my company sufficiently valuable without any of that sort of thing, you know." "So it seems," replied Fogg; "but does anybody else so consider it?"—Boston Transcript.

—A negro who was making night hideous near Fort Worth, by singing pious songs, was fired at, and received more than fifty birdshot in his person. As the doctor can not find more than half of them, the fact that the negro was singing: "A charge to keep I have," seems almost prophetic.—Texas Siftings.

—A little girl who ran home from school, all out of breath, said: "Oh, please, ma, may I get married and have a husband?" "My child!" exclaimed the astonished mother, "don't let me hear such words from you again!" "Well, then, may I have a piece of bread and butter and go out to play in the back-yard?"

—Dr. Chapin was dining at a hotel and was served with what was called barley soup on the bill of fare. "That is not barley soup," said he to the waiter, "it is barely soup." On another occasion, while traveling in the South with his wife, who was uncommonly dark-complexioned, he addressed an old colored man as "uncle." "How happens it," said his wife, roguishly, "that that colored man is your uncle?" "He is my uncle by marriage, I suppose."

The doctors of New York City, hundreds of whom have personally visited Speer's Vineyards during the wine making season, say his Port Grape Wine has proved to be pure, unadulterated, of a fine flavor and tonic properties and is unsurpassed for its restorative powers, and they prescribe it as very superior wine. HOME AND FARM.

—Veal Stew: Boil about two and a half pounds of the breast of veal in water, just enough to cover, for one hour and a half, add a dozen potatoes and boil half an hour longer. Then add a pint of rich milk, thicken and season and pour over slices of toast.—Rural New Yorker.

—A worm somewhat resembling the true army worm has, says a Kentucky exchange, done much damage to barley crops in that State by cutting off the stem just below the head and letting the grain fall to the ground. It is described as being a little darker and its locomotion is different from the worm that appears in wheat.

—Satin can be renovated in the same way that velvet often is—that is, by taking a hot iron, placing a wet cloth over it, and holding the satin in the steam, the wrong side nearer the heat. Of course, when the satin is worn off this does no good, but when it is crushed or wrinkled the effect is surprisingly good.—N. Y. Post.

—Cabbage Fried with Cream: Chop a quart of cold boiled cabbage, fry it fifteen minutes with sufficient butter to prevent burning, season it highly with pepper and salt, and stir into it half a cupful of cream or of milk, with a teaspoonful of flour mixed with it; let it cook five minutes longer, and serve it hot.—Prairie Farmer.

—A Missouri farmer writes: As soon as I find an animal in distress from bloat, from eating wet grass or clover, I wet it along the back with cold well-water, and also place a large cloth or blanket of several thicknesses over the paunch, after being saturated with all the cold water that it will absorb, and over that a dry blanket. If the cold water is properly applied, one will not have to wait long for a cure.

—Melons and Squashes: Last year, as a test, I pinched the ends of the long main shoots of the melons, squashes and cucumbers, and left some to run at their own sweet will. One squash plant sent out a single stem reaching more than forty feet, but did not bear any fruit. Another plant was pinched until it formed a compact mass of intermingling side shoots eight feet square and it bore sixteen squashes. The difference in favor of the yield of an acre of melons treated by this process may easily amount to 100 barrels."—Practical Farmer.

—Tapioca Pudding: One cup of tapico, one quart of milk, four eggs, one tablespoonful melted butter, and two tablespoonfuls of sugar; nutmeg. Soak the tapioca four hours in two cups of cold water; it should absorb it all. Warm the milk slightly, and soak the tapioca in this an hour longer. Rub butter and sugar to a cream, and having beaten the eggs very light, whip all these together before putting in tapioca and milk. Pour into a buttered pudding-dish, grate a little nutmeg on top, and set in the oven. In five minutes stir up carefully from the bottom to hinder the solid settling of the tapioca. Shut the oven and bake until "set" and nicely browned. Eat with pudding sauce, or with sugar and butter, if you send to table warm. It is good cold with milk and sugar.—The Household.

Rats on Ships.

Rats greatly infest ships, and are by them conveyed to every part of the world. So industriously do they make homes for themselves in the numerous crannies and corners in the hull of a ship, that it is impossible to get rid of them. Ships take out rats as well as passengers and cargo, every voyage; whether the former remain in the ship at port is best known to themselves. When the East India Company had ships of their own they employed a rat catcher, who sometimes captured 500 rats in one ship just returned from Calcutta. The ship rat is often the black species. Sometimes black and brown inhabit the same vessel, and unless they carry on perpetual hostilities, one party will keep in the head of the vessel and the other to the stern. The ship rat is very anxious that his supply of fresh water shall not fail; he will come on deck when it rains, and climb up to the wet sails to suck them. Sometimes he mistakes a spirit cask for a water cask, and he gets drunk. A captain on an American ship is credited (or discredited) with an ingenious bit of sharp practice as a means of clearing his ship from rats. Having discharged a cargo at a port in Holland, he found his ship in juxtaposition to another which had just taken in a cargo of Dutch cheese. He laid a plank at night from one vessel to the other; the rats, tempted by the odor, trooped along the plank and began the feast. He took care that the plank should not be there to serve them as a pathway back again, and so the cheese laden ship had a cruel addition to its outward cargo.—N. Y. Scientific Times.

A Forlorn Hope.
